Pork Quality Assurance Level III Certification

Attention Swine Producers:

In an effort to do their part to provide consumers with safe and wholesome food products and to comply with the United States Department of Agriculture's Hazard Analysis Critical Control Point (HACCP) plan, all packing companies (John Morrell & Co., Tyson, and Hormel) that buy hogs from Central Livestock, require the hogs they purchase be raised with responsible antibiotic practices. The packing companies will only purchase hogs raised with the safe antibiotic use guidelines developed by the National Pork Board, demonstrated in PQA Level III certification.

To ensure that your hogs will be accepted by the packing companies we contract with, we ask that you verify your PQA Level III certification status below.

1. Complete and sign the section below to include your certification number and return to us at Central Livestock. You may mail it back to us, send it with your trucker to return on your next shipment or stop it by the Central Livestock Office. Once we have your completed verification form we will keep it on file here.
2. When you sell a load of hogs at any Central Livestock location, please write your PQA Level III number on each contract.
3. If you are not certified and want more information about the Pork Quality Assurance program, please contact your state or local pork producers, Veterinarian, County Extension Office or the National Pork Board at 1-515-223-2600.

Thank you for your cooperation!
